New Beginnings

Elnora and Corky Harimon - Elnora retired February 23 after 19+ years at the Panhandle Research & Extension Center. Their plans are to move to Omaha to be close to children and grandkids.

Jerry and Jeannette Fitzgerald - Jeannette retired April 27 after 15 years at the Panhandle Research and Extension Center. She is looking forward to working in her yard and spending more time with her family.

Congratulations

Dr. Linda Boeckner was recently elected to the Nebraska Hall of Agricultural Achievement, which was formed in 1916 and has nearly 200 members statewide dedicated to preserving and improving Nebraska agriculture. Each year, the group recognizes at least one honoree and elects new members. As nutrition specialist and family and consumer science program coordinator at the Panhandle Center, Linda has developed nationally recognized programs for youth and adults. Her work provides training and material to state agencies, and her programs have been used nationwide. Her concerns about the impact of aging on rural communities led to partnerships to address the nutritional, financial, health and services of this population. Linda's current programs focus on reducing risk of lifestyle diseases through diet, weight management, plus nutrition and fitness for youth.

The Girl That I Used To Be

She came tonight as I sat alone,
The girl that I used to be.
She gazed at me with her earnest eyes
And questioned me reproachfully.

"Have you forgotten the many plans,
The hopes that were held for you;
The great career, the splendid fame,
And the wonderful things to do?"

"Where is your mansion of stately height,
With its gardens surpassing fair?
The silken robe that was planned for you
And the jewels for your hair?"

And as she talked, I was very sad
For I wanted her pleased with me,
This slender girl from the shadowy past,
The girl that I used to be.

Then gently arising I took her hand
And guided her up the stair,
Where peacefully sleeping my babies lay,
Innocent, sweet, and fair.

I told her that they were my only gems,
And precious they are to me;
That my silken robe is motherhood
Of happy simplicity.

That my mansion of stately height is love,
And the only career I know
Is serving each day within sheltering walls
The dear ones who need me so.

And as I spoke to my shadowy guest,
She smiled through her tears at me,
For I saw that the woman that I am now Pleased the girl that I used to be.

Happy Mother's Day to those who have accepted this important responsibility and also to those who have helped influence the lives of nieces, nephews or others!!

Panhandle Trivia

Which is the smallest county in the Panhandle and also one of the smallest in Nebraska? This county also had two other names before its present name.

In 1909, what was considered by some to be the
"garden spot of the west"?

Changes in May

Many graduations take place in May...and with graduation comes many changes! Several of our Panhandle District families are celebrating graduations this year. We would like to acknowledge your students and know a little bit about their plans. Please provide their name, degree, school and plans for the future. Please send this information to sholman1@unl.edu by May 22 for June's issue of the fUN PREC newsletter. Thank you.

Employee in the Know UNL Extension - Garden/Deuel Counties

Jan Davis
Staff Support - Garden County

I spent the first ten years of my life in northeast Nebraska in Cedar County on a farm with my parents and six siblings. Being number five of the seven of us kids and having three of those being older brothers, I didn't get in on very much of the labor that it took to keep things going on a farm. It was a typical farm. My parents milked a large herd of dairy cows, had a large chicken house, raised hogs to market and then of course Mom had a huge garden to help fill the freezer and cave with food to get to next year. A one room school house was my first place for education. My older brother and I usually walked the 1 1/4 mile to school unless the weather was nasty.

In 3rd grade the school closed and I started attending at Coleridge Public Schools which was a whole new ball game, because my class went from three people to twenty. A couple of years later, my parents decided to move off the farm to Wayne, NE in Wayne County. My parents both worked for an egg processing plant, Dad driving a truck and Mom working on an assembly line. Again, another change in schools. I was now in 5th grade and hesitant about the move, but my younger sister, now in 2nd grade, was very outgoing and had a little boyfriend the first day. I graduated from Wayne High School in 1970. During high school, I also worked at the same place my parents did and was anxious to be able to make some spending money.

After graduation, I was employed at Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. as a long distance operator in Norfolk. I met my husband, Terry, in January of 1971 and we were married in December and made our home in Carroll, NE. Terry's dad wanted him very much to farm along with him, but in reality there was not enough income for two families on their small farm. Most of our married years Terry spent as a feeder pig buyer for a grain elevator which had a custom hog feeding operation as part of their business. Terry ran this part of the business for 26 years which he loved. After three years as an operator, I transferred to the business office as a teller. This was great, because it meant day hours and no weekends. In 1974 our daughter, Wendy, joined our family. What a great joy. Life without her would have been pretty boring. In 1979, the teller position was in jeopardy of being fazed out, so I took a promotion as a service representative in both sales and collections in the same Norfolk office. 1981 brought a close to the Norfolk office. I transferred to Sioux City, IA again as a service representative, but this meant instead of a 30 mile drive to Norfolk, I had a 60 mile drive to Sioux City. I continued with this until May of 1990 when the Sioux City office closed. The telephone industry was going thru BIG TIME changes by now. In the twenty years that I worked for them, we went from Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. to US West Communications to finally Qwest Communications in name changes and restructuring. Transferring to a new office would have meant moving to a large city, such as Denver, Minneapolis, or Cedar Rapids. Terry and I didn't want to raise our daughter in the city if we had a choice.

Now for a new challenge! The local tavern in Carroll had been for sale and my optimistic husband thought "We can do this!". We bought it and Davis Steakhouse & Lounge was born. Terry continued with his job and I ran things at the steakhouse. We normally had about twelve employees most of the time to cover all the hours. In this little town, we were the coffee shop, the café, the bar, etc. Anyone that has owned a business knows that you have to be a Jack of All Trades. I wore many different hats including cook, bartender, purchasing agent, bookkeeper, employee hiring and firing, repairman and hostess. You name it, I did it. Our best nights were, of course, Friday and Saturday. These two nights, Terry would get home off the road and jump in to help cook. It was normal for us to feed 300 on Friday night and 100 on Saturday night. I took pride in home made food, so this meant lots of cooking which I love.

Our daughter and son-in-law moved to Oshkosh in 1997. Wendy is a medical transcriptionist at Garden County Health Services and her husband, Jason, is a lineman for Nebraska Public Power District. Hoping someday we would have grandchildren, we wanted to be closer than six hours away. In October of 2002, we sold our business and home and relocated to Oshkosh and opened Davis Steakhouse and Buffet. Terry and I both worked it this time. In January 2005, our first granddaughter was born and added a whole new dimension of love to our lives. We continued our business until July 2005 and at that time decided that 15 years of the restaurant business was enough and sold our business.

We each found jobs and are now enjoying a more normal home life. In January 2006, I started for the UNL Extension Office in Garden County as Staff Support and like it very much. I have SO MUCH to learn, but everyone has been so good to help me. It is much appreciated! I hope to be here a long time.

Rob Eirich
Extension Educator

On the first day of fall 1968, I came into this world the third son of Harvey and Eunice Eirich. My parents raised all three sons in the shadows of Chimney Rock on our family farming and ranching operation. My poor parents raising three sons, but lucky for them they finally had the perfect one and stopped (that is what I tell my brothers anyway).

I am a graduate of Bayard High School where I was involved in FFA, sports, choir, speech and drama. I also enjoyed 4-H and working with our family cattle operation. After high school, I attended Western Nebraska Community College for two years in AgriBusiness. Then I attended the University of Wyoming to complete my Bachelors in Agriculture Economics. During my time in Laramie, I competed on the UW Livestock Judging and Evaluation teams and worked for Dr. David Sanson in the Ruminant Nutrition lab. No matter what you hear from Paul Burgener, I was an angel while at Laramie. Currently, I am completing my Masters in Ag Leadership Education from UNL.

After attending UW, a couple gentlemen took a chance and hired me as the feed side manager of a 30,000 head feedlot in Brush, CO, where I spent nearly 3 years. I learned my interest and love for the feedlot business and it challenges. But I felt a pull back to Western Nebraska, I applied and took an Assistant position with UNL Extension in Scotts Bluff County for 4 ½ years. Tom, Jim and Cathy had their work cut out for them to teach this feedlot guy about working for Extension. I believe they still think I might not be teachable. Well, after my father passed away, I decide to go back to the family operation with my two older brothers, Randy and Roger. The operation has changed over the years and each one of us had our part. I got to follow my passion for the cattle business expanding and maintaining our cow/calf and feedlot ventures. We also are involved in corn and alfalfa production, seed sales, and cattle A.I. sales. After five years of success with my brothers, I found myself looking for an opportunity to utilize those skills from college and that I learned working for UNL. Which brings me to working with UNL Extension in the South Panhandle, I accepted the position as Assistant nearly 3 years ago in Kimball-Banner and Cheyenne Counties and now in Deuel-Garden.

While not at work for UNL Extension, I enjoy spending time on the family operation working with the cow herd. Black and white photography is another hobby of mine. During the summer months, I try to improve my golf hobby, not really sure why some days but it is coming around. Once in awhile, you could also see me watching or judging a livestock show around the area. As Mick Evertson, former Extension Educator, said once while introducing me, "He will be alright, but he is a little steer jockish." Well, with that I will end there. It has been enjoyable reading all of these in the newsletter, look forward to seeing more.

Carla Mahar
Extension Educator

Given that I have a tendency to tell more than most people want to know, I will try to keep this short. Life began on a farm north of Benkelman in southwest Nebraska. I was the only one in kindergarten in our rural school and the teacher's pet.

Around this time my dad lost his arm in a farm accident. He bought the sale barn in Imperial and began a long career as manager/auctioneer. One of my fondest memories was "Friday sale day". Mom helped clerk so we usually got to go out to eat at the local steak house and then my folks would go to bed and let us stay up "really late" playing paper dolls. We thought this to be a big treat but now I think it was probably a bigger treat for them!

Another great memory was going to the farm for wheat harvest. My maternal grandparents farmed for my dad. Grandpa would bring up the horse tank for us to swim and we had our own "doll house" which was actually a full size house that my folks had lived in when they first bought the farm. As we got older we learned to drive the truck but that was about all my dad and mom would allow us to do. They thought girls should do girl things. My sisters and I still own the farm and I am the farm manager as some of you know having picked your brain on occasion as to what to do with wheat and pasture land.

Most of my middle school was spent in Imperial. I was a Kansan for one year and then we moved to Benkelman where I finished junior and senior high. I believe that if I had been of the male gender I would have gone into business with my father. As it was I had a scholarship to UNL so my folks let me go thinking that I would quickly get my Mrs. Degree-find a "good man" to take care of me. Back then UNL seemed awfully big and far from home so my second year I transferred to Kearney State where I would have stayed but "love" interfered. Although Pat, my husband of 36 years, was also from Benkelman, he was at UNL by the time I was in high school so we did not really meet until my senior year of college. Pat was teaching in Harrison so I found myself transferring to Chadron State, getting married and commuting to finish my degree. We moved to Elba, a very small town north of Grand Island where we both taught. Pat taught business and coached. I wanted to teach Home Ec. but I got to teach science, physics, and chemistry. Finally the Home Ec. position opened up but I found a much better job - being full time mom to my new son, Josh.

We were at Elba five years before moving to Chappell where we have definitely put down roots. Our daughter, Angela, was born the year we moved to Chappell. About the time the kids were both in school I took a job during harvest at the Farmers Elevator in Chappell. If you are not aware, in Chappell wheat is king and harvest is a big deal. I really enjoyed the work and stayed on as bookkeeper. I was there six years until the manager and I saw the parting of ways. I did a short stint as bookkeeper/clerk at the city office and Cabela's Furniture when I decided to get my masters in school counseling.

At that time long distance education was a new frontier. I drove to Alliance and Scottsbluff for many night classes and returned to Chadron for a couple summer sessions. I spent more time in the car than I did in class but I guess that prepared me for Extension! In the middle of this endeavor, there was an opening for an extension educator in Deuel and Garden Counties. I, like many, thought that was 4-H and fair. I was not a big fan of fair and knew nothing about 4-H so I did not apply. During the second round of advertising someone suggested that I check it out. I did and the rest is 15+ years of having a career I really enjoy - but still not the fair!

Seven years ago Pat took early retirement after 33 years of teaching. He does some part time crop adjusting so he will not completely "rust." When we were raising our children we were like most parents - involved in their activities and wondering how we would fill the time when they left. Trust me, it is just fine! Pat and I enjoy golfing and watching a variety of sports, college football being our favorite. Our dates include scouting for wild game but that is the extent of my hunting. We have been known to play cribbage until 5 o'clock in the morning but Pat says I should not tell anyone we are that obsessed with winning. I am that way about bridge, too.

And of course, we enjoy our visits with family especially now with our first grandchild, Eli, born last October to son Josh and wife Amy. Josh is the superintendent at Wild Horse Golf Course in Gothenburg. Amy works part time as physician's assistant at a family clinic in Gothenburg.

Our daughter, Angie is the financial controller for an investment firm that builds and manages apartment complexes in four states. She is still looking for Mr. Right but so far she has a long list of Mr. Wrongs. I sometimes think my kids could be poster students for our recruitment efforts. UNL provided them both with excellent educations which led to good careers in Nebraska. I tried to keep this short but the longer you live the more you have to tell.

Ann Mick
Support Staff/4-H Aide
Deuel County

I was born on an early fall morning (before the cows were milked) in Detroit Lakes, Minnesota. My Dad took my Mom to the hospital and returned home to milk the cows, thinking he had plenty of time. When he returned to the hospital I had already come into the world impatient and ready to get started with life (that hasn't changed). When I was born, my brother Lyle was 22 months old and didn't like me very much. Five years later my brother Mark was born, three years after that, Bruce. Like all brothers and sisters, Lyle and I fought like cats and dogs most of the time. Mark and Bruce were just plain cute and funny. At age 11 my mother passed away with cancer. We sold the farm and moved to our lake home. Three years later my Dad married my other Mom, which added a sister, Linda and another brother, Aldean to the family. Two years after we became a family of six, we moved to Peetz, Colorado. Moving from a populated, beautiful tourist area in northern Minnesota to the desolate flat land of northeastern Colorado was a culture shock! However, shocking as it was I became accustom to the area and stayed. I moved to Chappell, NE in 1975 and still call it home.

At the age of five I started school at Frazee, MN public schools. I attended country school 1st - 6th grade (no kindergarten), 7th - 10th grades in the town of Frazee; (town school), I attended my final two years of high school and graduated from Peetz High School. Several years later attended and graduated from Center Community College at Grand Island, NE., with a diploma in Dietetic Technology and Dietary Management.

I am married to husband Doug, a self-employed contractor and co-owner of D & D Construction. We have two grown children, daughter Terasa who lives in Lincoln with her husband, Jason and three daughters Madison, Alyssa, and Zoe. Terasa is a R.N. Nurse Supervisor at Madonna Rehabilitation Hospital, in Lincoln, her husband Jason, works for Capitol Tower in Waverly. Our son Justin lives in Bayard with his wife Bev and daughter, Abigail and son, Taylor. Justin works for Team Chevrolet in Scottsbluff, his wife Bev work for Cabela in Sidney. We have two pets in our family, Babe a 14 year old cocker spaniel, who loves to play ball and Tigger a 6 year old tabby cat, who loves to sit on my lap and cuddle.

Hobbies include gardening, reading, cooking and canning, swimming, walking or going to the fitness center. I like to be involved in the community by serving on various boards and committees. My favorite past time is spending time with the grandchildren. I look forward to vacation time with the grandchildren. They spend a week with us every summer and we do nothing but swim and play. Grandkids are the greatest!

I had worked in food service management and/or health care food service management most of my life when I decided to make a career change. Working for UNL Extension has been a pleasant and rewarding change. Not being familiar with 4-H, agriculture, and animals, this job is a learning experience everyday.

Biosystems Engineering Panhandle Research & Extension Center

Richard (Dick) Gatch
Ag Research Technician

I was born in the old Methodist hospital in downtown Scottsbluff, and was raised on a farm southeast of Melbeta. I attended school in Melbeta Public Schools between 1949-1962, and during that time I was active in football, basketball, track, 4-H showing sheep, beef cattle and dairy heifers, became an Eagle Scout, played a french horn in the Melbeta band, was in the Melbeta Methodist Church youth group and in the Scottsbluff rural youth program.

After high school I went to the University of Wyoming on a track scholarship and graduated in 1966 with a B.S. in Ag Engineering. In the fall of '65, Kathy and I were married (I had met her when the Scottsbluff and Alliance Rural Youth had gotten together for some square dancing parties.). After graduation we moved to Milwaukee, Wisconsin where I worked in the ag tractor design department for about 2 years before moving back to western Nebraska to farm with my dad. From 1968 to 1985 we raised corn, alfalfa, sugar beets, 3 children and milked holstein cows. Kathy and I were youth group leaders, scout leaders, and PTA members. I was on the Melbeta school board and we were proud supporters of the athletic and music programs at school.

In 1993 I came to work part-time at PREC, and in 1995 we sold our farm machinery and milk cows and I started full-time in the B.S.E. department. I have been interesting to work here with so many good people and try to make a difference in how the valley looks at and raises valley crops. Kathy and I still live on our farm where we keep her therapy horses which she uses in the summer to help handicapped children. Life has been a trip and we are blessed with three children, ten grandchildren, and a good way of life for our work and livelihood.

Dave Reichert
Ag Research Technician

I was born and raised on a farm just west of Scottsbluff, not far from the Haig School, where I received my early education (K thru 8th grade). Like most rural kids growing up in the mid 60's, I was involved in 4-H activities, (lambs, and steers), sports, (basketball, baseball) and chores, (lots and lots of chores). I graduated from Scottsbluff High School, and attended Western Nebraska Community College for two years. Upon completion of that program, I attended the University of Nebraska Lincoln, finishing with a BS in Animal Science, and Agronomy. During college, it seemed like I always had a part time job, and one of those that was probably the most interesting to me, was helping Dr. Elliot perform embryo transplants in beef cattle, along with some experimentation involving beefalo that he was doing at the time. (This is where my experience with lots and lots of chores proved valuable). After college, I was hired by Lockwood Corp., helping both the sales dept, and the engineering dept, in making sales, taking orders, and following up with customer satisfaction. After nearly 4 months of mostly on the job training, my position terminated, the company had suffered financial setbacks due to a sagging ag economy.

About this time I met my wife to be, (Annette) and we were married shortly after I was hired here at the University. We now have 3 boys, Nathan, Ethan, and Jordan. While our family was still fairly young we would snow ski, play on coed softball and volleyball teams, racket ball, tennis, fishing, swimming, and as the boys got bigger we were, and still are involved in their activities, sports, 4-H, church, and school functions.

About 13 years ago we took on the endeavor of building an (acreage) home on the place where I grew up, and it has been a nonstop adventure ever since. It would be safe to say that Annette and I share this as our number 1 hobby. Needless to say, we aren't taking as many ski trips or playing softball as much as we used to ... owning an acreage is a part time job!

Along with working in the yard and around the house, I am one of the directors for the Mitchell Irrigation Dist., and continue to be active on the numerous boards at our church.

Annette has become a horse enthusiast, and I guess you could say that it is rubbing off on me. We now have two horses and try to go riding as much as possible, weather permitting.

Like Dean said, you probably don't want to know when I had the Measles and Mumps, so I'll stop here. Besides I've already clicked the send button.

Dean Yonts
Irrigation Specialist

Life for me began in Powell, Wyoming in 1951. I was the fourth of five children raised on my parents farm that they homesteaded in 1934. Because of irrigation in the area, the groundwater became too salty to drink and we had to haul water from town (16 miles) and store the water in a cistern. Needless to say, I learned how to use water efficiently when I was growing up. One of the biggest accomplishments I remember when I was an 8th grader was helping put running water into our house. Prior to that it was bucketed from the cistern into the house on a daily basis. When the sheep were lambing (Yes I said sheep, this is Wyoming) one of our chores was to pack buckets of water to the ewes. My younger brother was "littler", so guess who could only carry a half bucket of water?

Other memories of growing up include sharing a 6 X 15 foot old canvas trailer (our bedroom) with my brother and sister. In the winter we knew when it really got cold because we could scrape the frost off of the wall next to our heads. The biggest change occurred when I was finishing junior college. The family completed remodeling the house and we joined the modern world and got indoor plumbing....and you think winters are cold in Nebraska!!!

Of the five children in my family, all attended junior college in Powell and then the University of Wyoming. My sister who was in the middle of four brothers (she still gets grief from both ends) and lacked only nine hours to complete her college degree.

The four boys all earned degrees in engineering; petroleum, electrical, agricultural and mechanical. Guess which one I am?

In September, following graduation, I married a work-study student that I met in Laramie. She was working for my sister in the education department. Kathy is from Kemmerer, Wyoming, where the town's claim to fame is having the Mother Store of J.C. Penneys. Kathy worked there a few summers to earn money for school, but of course J.C. was not around at that time. Kathy taught school for a few years out of school and since then has been a substitute teacher in the grade schools of Scottsbluff.

My first job out of college was in Alliance as a crop consultant. As part of job training, I attended the University of Nebraska Irrigation Short Course in Lincoln. During the meeting a couple of University of Nebraska professors caught me in the hall and asked if I was interested in a job at Scottsbluff. I started as a technician in January of 1975 here at the Station, or center as it is called during modern times. Then a few short years later, working with my boss and the University of Wyoming, I completed a Masters Degree in Agricultural Engineering. At that time the University employed two irrigation engineers, one to do research and the other to do extension. I was looking for a career change when my boss moved to Louisiana and the University converted his position to a machinery specialist. I applied for and received that position. About a year later, the irrigation engineer left and I asked to be moved into the position that I currently hold today.

In 1980, as I started my new job as a faculty member, I also started a new family when Travis was born. Travis is now 26 and has completed a Masters Degree from the University of Nebraska in Agricultural Engineering, specializing in water resources and irrigation. Wonder where he got that from? Kathy and I had pretty much settled on our existing family when sahzam!!! along came Marissa. Marissa was born in 1994 and is currently a 5th grader at Lincoln Heights in Scottsbluff. Needless to say she keeps us busy. At least the "Are you out with Grandad?" comments have subsided.

Although over the years I have began to wear a little more red, okay a lot more red, I'm still a Wyoming Cowboy at heart. I enjoy working around the yard and building things. What I enjoy the most is working with kids and helping people do whatever they need help with. By the way, does anyone know where to find graduation/retirement cards. I want to celebrate with my daughter!!!

Trivia Answers

The land, hunting grounds for the Oglala and Brule Sioux, was set aside by the United States government as Indian territory in 1834. According to early history, this area was part of Lyon County during territorial days while an early map made in the East identified it as part of a Taylor County. However, neither of these names appear on any list of territorial counties at the State Historical Society so these may have been invented by someone promoting Nebraska as "more settled" than it really was. In 1887 this county was named "Deuel" for Harry P. Deuel, superintendent on the railroad.

Settlers in the northern part of Deuel County began agitating for a county division due to the 75 miles they had to travel to the county seat. In 1909 an election was held and Deuel County lost three-fourths of its original territory and Garden County was formed from the northern portion. Citizens chose the name as "garden spot of the west" and elected Oshkosh its county seat.
